

CAS Negotiating Team Update, June 1, 2016

Bon Appetit!
By Anne-Marie Allison

Collectively, the CAS Negotiating Team has devoted hundreds of hours to preparation for contract negotiations since January---team meetings, studying the CAS Member survey, discussing issues with our Members at faculty information meetings and at Bargaining Unit meetings, developing proposals, and more. We've worked up quite an appetite!

The fare for the bargaining table was laid out on June 1 when the CAS Negotiating Team and the Administration's negotiating team exchanged proposals regarding the Articles that each Party opened for negotiation last week.

Now both Parties can begin to digest the smorgasbord of proposals in advance of further contract negotiations to occur throughout the rest of the spring and summer.

We will keep in touch with our Members as we continue through the process.

In Solidarity,
Your CAS Negotiating Team
