

LAURIER STOP THE CUTS COALITION

CALLS FIRST MEETING

In the past few weeks, Wilfrid Laurier University has cut 22 staff jobs and effectively laid off dozens of part-time and contract faculty.

According to Laurier President Max Blouw, this is just the beginning of the cuts. In his words, the University administration “anticipates the need for further budget reductions in each of the next several fiscal years.”

We say: STOP THE CUTS! No more slashing support for students! No more trashing our colleagues and mentors!

We want a more democratic and accessible university that protects all its workers. You do too? Join students, staff, and faculty who reject the plan for further attacks on learning and working at Laurier. Together we can stop the cuts!
